

MEXICAN BATTLE LASTS 50 HOURS

Federals Defeat Rebels at Parral, Chihuahua—Bombardment Wrecks Town.

CANNOT WITHDRAW U. S. TROOPS

General Bliss, in Command on Border, Says Situation There Is Difficult—Election for President in Mexico to Be Held in July.

El Paso, Tex., March 12.—Reports of a desperate battle in the vicinity of Parral, Chihuahua, that lasted fifty hours and resulted in a heavy loss of life on both sides, was received here in belated dispatches.

A force of 1,500 constitutionalists rebelling against Huerta's government were driven back into the city by a force of federals. Parral, which is a center of American mining and industrial interests, was damaged in the fight, and the bombardment which followed. Fighting of the most desperate character took place in the streets of the city.

Rebels Withdraw During Night.

The rebels were the same that left Parral last week after suddenly rebelling against the Huerta regime. They mobilized at Santa Barbara and returned to retake the city on March 5. The attack was made on the afternoon of that day and continued until the evening of the seventh, when the rebels took to the fortified hills surrounding the city and drove the federals into the cover of the town. At night the rebels withdrew, without pursuit.

During the fighting the rioting occurred throughout the town, the banks were attacked and the market place burned. Many of the residents were killed in the battle.

Cannot Withdraw U. S. Troops.

Washington, March 12.—The withdrawal of American troops from the Mexican frontier, which seemed desirable to Secretary of War Garrison, cannot be effected, according to Tasker H. Bliss, in command on the border.

General Bliss was asked some days ago to report on the advisability of withdrawing the troops. The reply received by Secretary of War Garrison follows:

"I have thoroughly inspected the disposition of troops on the border between El Paso and Nogales, as per your telegram of the fifth instant. All detachments and patrols are judiciously disposed to carry out the war department instructions. No patrols are nearer the international boundary than absolutely necessary on account of the very open country in the vicinity of Douglas. This is a most difficult situation just now to handle, but even here practically no patrols of detachments are under observation from the Mexican side. The troops are performing a difficult duty with great discretion."

The state department is now brought face to face with the question of whether or not the Huerta government is to be officially recognized here. A message was received here stating that Senor Raboso had been appointed ambassador to the United States.

Secretary Bryan declined to comment on the situation thus created.

Mexican Election in July.

Mexico City, March 12.—At the cabinet meeting here it was decided to hold the presidential election next July, by which time the ministers believe the country will be at peace. The Diaz partisans have been clamoring for an election soon, while Huerta wants a postponement until there is a complete pacification. The July date is a compromise. The elections, if held, will be, at is thought, a walk-over for the Diaz-La Barra ticket.

The ministers were in session all day, discussing the Senora-Sinaloa situation, which gets more alarming every hour, and is now assuming the proportions of a civil war. It has been decided to send fully 20,000 troops north and to recruit the army as rapidly as possible, so as to throw forty or fifty thousand men into Sonora and Sinaloa, if it is necessary. General Blanquet will probably be in command of the northern troops.

MARK SMITH OUT

FOR SUPERVISOR
The petition of Mark Smith as a candidate for supervisor, was filed with Town Clerk W. V. E. Steel yesterday. Saturday is the last day for filing petitions.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Alvin J. Stevanus of Graceville, Minn., and Miss Zena B. Naylor of Sterling.

MOTHERS' PENSION DISCUSSED BY BOARD

SUPERVISORS LOOK FAVORABLY ON PLAN OF ALLOWING PENSION

The inability of the committees to finish their work in time to report at the morning session of the board of supervisors today, prevented a great deal of business being done at that session, and accordingly adjournment was taken until 2 this afternoon.

The only matter of import discussed at the morning session was the application for a "mother's" pension by Mrs. Martha Brewer of Amboy, which is the first application of its kind in the history of Lee county, and which was exclusively mentioned in this paper Monday evening.

Judge Scott announced that he had set next Monday for final action on the petition, and explained that he wished the advice of the board on the matter, inasmuch as the granting of the pension, as provided by law, would establish a precedent in the county which will probably result in other similar applications.

He explained, also, that the county is paying $10 monthly for the care of each of its 6 charges at Glenwood, and that failure to grant this petition would probably result in another action whereby the county would be compelled to find places for the children.

Allow the Pension.

Supervisor A. S. Wells voiced the sentiment of the board when he stated that inasmuch as the children were the grandchildren of Mrs. Brewer, and as long as the county was responsible for their care and that it would probably cost just as much to send them to any institution, perhaps more, he thought it would be best not to separate them from their relatives. Supervisor W. J. Edwards of Amboy vouched for the worthiness of Mr. and Mrs. Brewer and the children, and accordingly the matter was left to Judge Scott with the board's approval of any action he may take.

Would Light Lamps.

When the board reconvened this afternoon many of the committees reported, and the bills which had been audited and approved were ordered paid.

A petition signed by the Dixon Citizens' association and a number of business men asking that the boulevard lamps in front of the court house be kept lighted evenings, was presented and it is believed it will be presented and passed by the board.

IN BLUFF PARK HOUSE

MAN TRIED TO FORCE AN ENTRANCE TO MAJOR TULLOTT RESIDENCE.

About 9 o'clock last night Mrs. A. T. Tourtellott, who was alone in her home in Bluff Park, experienced a fright when a man attempted to gain entrance to the house through a cellar window and later appeared on the back porch.

Mrs. Tourtellott phoned to neighbors and when they came to her assistance the prowler ran from the rear of the house across lots to Second street. An attempt was made to call the police, but the phone at the police station was unanswered. Maj. Tourtellott was in Sublette. If he had been at home we imagine the prowler would have found himself in a lot of trouble.

Residents of Bluff Park are loading up their "artillery" and the next fellow who visits the neighborhood in such an informal manner will carry away with him a souvenir of the occasion—a hide full of buckshot.

LECTURE WELL ATTENDED.

The stereopticon lecture by E. T. Bailey at the Y. on Egypt last night was one of the best attended of the series on the Holy Land. The pictures were excellent and the talk interesting. The next two lectures promise to be the most interesting of the series. They are on Jerusalem. About 100 slides will be shown at each lecture.

RUNAWAY IS FATAL TO OAK RIDGE HORSE

WILLIAM WORNICK'S TEAM IN A DISASTROUS RUNAWAY MONDAY.

Oak Ridge, Mich. 11.—A runaway in this vicinity Monday morning resulted in the killing of one horse and possibly will mean the death of another.

While Wm. Wornick was driving to the Emory Warner farm his team became unmanageable and broke from his control, throwing him out. The horses ran off a bridge across a small stream, falling several feet. One horse fell upon a post, causing a ghastly wound. This animal was shot and it will probably be necessary to dispatch the other.

Mr. Wornick was not badly injured, receiving but a few bruises.

STATION AT OREGON BURNED TO GROUND

C. B. & Q. DEPOT IN OGLE COUNTY SEAT A TOTAL LOSS—BURNED TODAY.

Oregon, Ill., Mich. 12.—Special to Telegraph—The C. B. & Q. station here burned to the ground at about 10 o'clock this morning. This is the only road that runs into Oregon.

The fire is supposed to have been caused by defective wiring. The station is a mile from the center of the town and is quite a run for the fire department.

However, neighboring residents assisted in fighting the fire, which gained headway so rapidly that no control over it could be obtained.

At noon the building, which was not modern, was nothing but a mass of smouldering ruins.

The loss is estimated at $3000, covered fully by insurance.

The burning of the station did not interfere greatly with the running of trains, but it will be necessary to use one of the neighboring buildings as a makeshift depot.

Telegraphic communication is cut off owing to the fact that all Western Union wires were strung into the depot, there being no uptown office.

Officials of the railroad at Aurora have rushed workmen to Oregon to put in new wires, and company officials will arrive tonight to investigate the loss.

Some of the freight stored in the station was destroyed, though a part was saved.

TERMS EXPIRE AND ELECTION, APRIL 1ST, MAY BRING NEW FACES

While the members of the Board of Supervisors, who are in session this week for their last meeting of the fiscal year, are not engaged in transacting the county's business, they are talking politics, for on Tuesday, April 1, the terms of thirteen of the county dads will expire, and they will either be re-elected to represent their various townships for two more years, or will be allowed to devote their time to private life.

Many of the supervisors whose terms will expire will have no opposition; the following having their petitions out at the present time with no opposition in sight or contemplated: Morris Cook, W. J. Edwards, John W. Banks, T. P. Long, John P. Drow, J. P. Malach and A. S. Wells.

Christ Gross of China township, who has been an efficient official, is seeking re-election, but opposition, has appeared against him, the progressives having put a candidate into the field, and therefore the genial China representative will have a merry fight on his hands between now and All Fools' Day. Others of the members will probably have opposition also, but they are looking for their successful records to pull them through the coming campaign.

WILSON DEMANDS
PEACE IN SOUTH

Latin-American States Must Discontinue Strife, Says Chief Executive.

NO PERSONAL AGGRANDIZEMENT

"We Can Have No Sympathy With Those Who Seek to Seize Power of Government to Advance Own Interests," Says President.

Washington, March 12.—That there must be peace in the Latin-American republics and that this peace must be maintained without any steps toward personal aggrandizement, is the keynote of a statement issued by President Wilson here, outlining his policy toward the Central and Southern American republics.

"We can have no sympathy with those who seek to seize the power of government to advance their own personal interests," is probably the most significant sentence of the statement, for therein the president shows clearly that the present administration will not countenance another Huerta uprising or another incipient revolt, such as led to the murder of President Arango of San Salvador, even if he has to use force to prevent them.

President Wilson's Statement.

The president's statement follows: "One of the chief objects of my administration will be to cultivate the friendship and deserve the confidence of our sister republics of Central and South America, and to promote in every proper and honorable way the interests which are common to the peoples of the two continents. I earnestly desire the most cordial understanding and co-operation between the peoples and leaders of America and, therefore, deem it my duty to make this brief statement.

"Co-operation is possible only when supported at every turn by the orderly processes of just government based upon law, not upon arbitrary or irregular force. We hold, as I am sure all thoughtful leaders of republican government everywhere hold, that just government rests always upon the consent of the governed, and that there can be no freedom without order based upon law and upon the public conscience and approval. We shall look to make these principles the basis of mutual intercourse, respect and helpfulness between our sister republics and ourselves. We shall lend our influence of every kind to the realization of these principles in fact and practice, knowing that disorder, personal intrigue and defiance of constitutional rights weaken and discredit government and injure none so much as the people who are unfortunate enough to have their common life and their common affairs so tainted and disturbed.

Revolt for Personal Profit Hit.

"We can have no sympathy with those who seek to seize the power of government to advance their own personal interests or ambition. We are the friends of peace, but we know that there can be no lasting or stable peace in such circumstances. As friends, therefore, we shall prefer those who act in the interest of peace and honor, who protect private rights and respect the restraint of constitutional provision. Mutual respect seems to us the indispensable foundation of friendship between states, as between individuals.

"The United States has nothing to seek in Central and South America except the lasting interests of the peoples of the two continents, the security of governments intended for the people and for no special group of interests and the development of personal and trade relationships between the two continents which should be redounded to the profit and advantage of both and interfere with the rights and liberties of neither.

"From these principles may be read so much of the future policy of this government as it is necessary now to forecast; and in the spirit of these principles I may, I hope, be permitted with as much confidence as earnestness to extend to the governments of all the republics of America the hand of genuine disinterested friendship and to pledge my own honor and the honor of my colleagues to every enterprise of peace and amity that a fortunate future may disclose."

At 8:30 the strains of the wedding march were heard, and the bride and groom preceded by two tiny white clad flower girls descended the stairway and took their places in the corner of the parlor where the marriage service was read. After the ceremony the congratulations of the guests were showered on the bridal couple. The crowd was then invited to the dining room, where a fine wedding supper was served. ## NAPOLEON'S KINFIND

Grandson of French Emperor Los Angeles Laborer.

William Gordon's Grandmother Was Matron of Hospital at Helena When Bonaparte Arrived.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—Search by the Crittenden Memorial society of San Francisco for a reputed grandson of Napoleon Bonaparte ended in a Los Angeles lumber yard. William Gordon, a workman, is the person sought.

William Gordon is a son of the late John Gordon, a San Francisco jeweler, who, according to the Crittenden society, was unquestionably a son of the "Little Corporal." The remains of John Gordon rest in a cemetery near the Golden Gate.

William Gordon is sixty-five years of age. He says his father was not born on the island of St. Helena, as has been asserted, but near Edinburgh, Scotland, November 11, 1818. John Gordon's mother was a Scotch woman—matron of the hospital at St. Helena when Napoleon arrived there on the Bellerophon—and he was given his mother's family name.

John Gordon married Amelia Jones, a Welsh woman, in London in 1845, and they came to America, settling in New London, Conn., where William was born in 1847.

"Having the blood of the great emperor in my veins has never excited me," said William Gordon, as he turned to his task of piling lumber.

Wilmar left his country place at Morlaix, Belgium, on October 11 of last year, and on the same day it was discovered that he had duplicated a stock issue for about $6,000,000. These he sold all over Europe, but by buying back from his dupes who wished to sell, he staved off discovery for some time.

To the Sick and Afflicted

Dr. R. S. Piper has practiced medicine in the state of Illinois for 12 years. He is a graduate from one of the oldest medical colleges in the United States. He is licensed by examination by the Illinois State Board of Health.

He is not a nature fakir making people believe that all diseases have their origin in the spine, nor is he a magnetic healer who claims to cure by the laying on of hands, both of which are flagrant quacks.

Dr. R. S. Piper has not practiced medicine for a quarter of a century or more (like many so-called specialists) thus becoming antiquated and using methods which are necessarily obsolete, but he is a scientific man with the necessary education (not from two months' nor two years' course from some extinct college) and ripe experience to give you the best medical treatment of modern times, by aid of his deep acting blood remedies.

If you want to be convinced, come and talk to a real specialist. It will cost you nothing to have an honest opinion.

What Dr. R. S. Piper Does

He treats all chronic diseases of MAN or WOMAN that are curable, no matter how long standing. He fits GLASSES to the EYES accurately by an entirely new method known only to himself; he does not blind you for a week by putting drops in your eye. He invites the most difficult cases to call on him and try his new method FREE OF CHARGE. He also removes WARTS and MOLES from any part of the body by a wonderful and painless method that leaves no scar.

PAIN Dr. R. S. Piper's superior method of treating Chronic diseases in MEN and WOMEN is such that all pain and suffering is speedily banished in the shortest possible time, never to return again. His deep acting medicines work thoroughly and in a lasting manner. If there is no structural change there is a cure for you.

DIFFICULT CASES By his methods many of the so called incurable and baffling cases are CURED in a short time. It makes no difference how many have failed to cure you or how long you have suffered, come and consult the MASTER SPECIALIST. Curing desperate Chronic cases in MEN and WOMEN is his life long specialty. Dr. R. S. Piper wants it here understood that he does not treat advanced cases of Cancer, Consumption, Epilepsy, Asthma and Hay Fever, however, many cases if seen early enough can be cured. Let the experience of those who have been cured be your guiding star. Come and read some of the testimonials from those that he has cured. A WRITTEN FACT IS AS GOOD AS A GOLD BOND to one that is now suffering and doesn't know what to do for help.

DANGER Dr. R. S. Piper's treatment is absolutely safe and free from all bad effects upon your system. He does not give you drugs manufactured by unreliable chemical houses, but he does use the best in the market as prepared by the world's best chemists. When you place your case in his hands you do it with absolute safety. His drugs are the purest that money can buy, therefore he gets the best results.

FORECASTS MADE LONG AGO

Literary Works of Other Days Make Curious Reading in the Light of Modern Inventions.

Chance phrases in the literary works of other days describe with uncanny exactness inventions of far later times. For instance, we find in the Prolusions of Strada the Roman, which were published in the year 1617, what might be held to embody a crude description of wireless telegraphy.

Strada represents two friends as carrying on a correspondence by means of a "certain loadstone which has such virtue in it that if it touches two needles, when one of the needles begins to move, the other, although at ever so great a distance, moves at the same time and in the same manner."

In 1674 Robert Hooke published a work wherein he observed that, as glasses improve vision, so ways might be found to improve our other senses. "It is not impossible," says he, "to hear a whisper a distance of a furlong, and perhaps the nature of the thing would not make it impossible although that furlong should be ten times multiplied." This seems to be a fair forecast of the telephone.

In Gulliver's travels Swift causes his hero to relate, in the voyage to Laputa, that the astronomers there "have likewise discovered the two lesser stars or satellites which revolve about Mars." This has been held to constitute a satire on sham science. Nevertheless, Prof. Asaph Hall a few years ago discovered the two tiny satellites.

It was more than seventeen hundred years ago that Lucian gave an account of the manner wherein the inhabitants of the moon drank "air squeezed or compressed into a goblet" so that it formed a kind of dew. This clearly suggests liquid air.

The same writer, in "Vera Historia," humorously and at some length describes an aerial ship the sails of which were inflated by a whirlwind, thus impelling it through space to the moon.—Harper's Weekly.

GOT EVEN WITH OLD ENEMY

Dobbin Had Stood Much, but When He Finally Retaliated He Made Things Good and Even.

Old Dobbin, property of Mrs. Jesse Owen, of Missouri, had his nerves so rasped by the buzzing and snorting of fiery-eyed automobiles that they finally gave way completely when one had the temerity to step right in front of him for adjustment—and adjustment there was. Dobbin suddenly became all legs. He climbed into the car, filling the air with bits of flying glass, brass and wood; he kicked the lamps, tore off a tire and shredded the upholstery; he made junk of the metal trimmings, when with a final kick of defiance he clambered out and permitted himself to be hitched up, and proceeded serenely on his way.

Blood Temperature of Athletes.

There have been made at the London college hospital some curious observations on the blood temperature of athletes. The normal blood temperature of man is about 98.11 degrees Fahrenheit. A young man, after a run of 200 yards, showed a temperature of 100.76 degrees; another a temperature of 100.94 degrees; a third a temperature of 102.2 degrees after a run of half a mile. A mile run produced an internal temperature of 102.8 degrees with one athlete, and 103.6 degrees with another. After a three-mile run one young man had a temperature of 105 degrees, but this runner's normal blood temperature was 101 degrees, although he was in perfect health.—Harper's Weekly.

Hospital on Wheels.

The new French Schneider ambulance is a veritable portable hospital, being a truck of probably the largest size yet constructed and having an operating room in the middle part, with two smaller rooms at the ends. It contains an electric plant which is used for lighting, water pumping and sterilizing and for surgical motors. Water is pumped in by hose from a well or pond, and, after passing through the ultra-violet ray sterilizer, it is stored in a tank. When the ambulance is brought to the spot, for instance, on a battlefield, a wing in the shape of a tent is formed by a tarpaulin on each side of the wagon, and the two tents are electrically lighted through windows in the sides of the car.

Peanut as Civilizer.

The peanut seems to be playing the part of "civilizer" in some of the colonial districts of Africa. Traders give a negro a bushel of the nuts for seed on condition that he returns four bushels from his crop, and since the yield in good years is twenty-fold the black man generally has a surplus that he can sell at the rate of a shilling a bushel.

From a single station in Senegambia there were shipped in one year 29,000 tons. Small boys and scientists have long been in agreement as to the value of the peanut; now statesmen also will have to do it honor, since it seems likely to lead the native African into the paths of agriculture.

WOMEN FLEE BIG MOB

British Crowd Stops a Large Suffragist Meeting.

Speaker Rescued From Hall With Difficulty as Windows Are Smashed and Platform Stormed.

London, March 12.—The militant suffragettes were driven from a hall in Nottingham by the most hostile crowd they have yet encountered. Miss Annie Kenney and a Mr. Gray attempted to speak, but were interrupted many times by the explosion of detonators, stamping of feet, setting off of firecrackers, the liberation of pungent gases and an almost constant fire of heckling from persons in the audience. The surging crowd outside, who had been refused admission, finally broke through a rear wall of the hall, stormed the platform and nearly wrecked the building. During the melee the police secretly took Miss Kenney and her companions to an ante-room and then smuggled them away from the crowd.

London, England, March 12.—Five suffragettes who attempted to reach the king with petitions when he was on his way to parliament were sent to prison for periods ranging from twenty-one days to a month. The five young women gave their names as Lillian Wilcox, Dorothy Smith, Kathleen Paget, Gertrude Vaughan and Grace Stuart.

The Bow street magistrate before whom they were arraigned, gave them an opportunity of escaping prison sentences by filing sureties for their future good behavior. The young women indignantly rejected this alternative. Two other suffragettes were sent to prison for a month for breaking windows at the home office. The women said that they had adopted this method of protesting against the illegal arrest of the would-be petitioners.

FRIEDMANN IN CANADA

Phthisis Expert Has Successful Day in Montreal.

Thirty Patients, Including Men, Women and Children, Gain Injection of the Serum.

Montreal, March 12.—Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann left here for Ottawa after having spent a highly successful day, according to those who witnessed the clinical demonstration of his treatment for the cure of tuberculosis. Thirty persons, including men, women and children, received the injections of the serum in the presence of fifty physicians at the Royal Edward Institute for Tuberculosis. Newspaper men and the public were excluded.

One of the patients was Marie Racour, a sixteen-year-old girl, who came from her home in the Canadian wilds 200 miles north of here to receive the treatment. Both the father and the mother of the girl died victims of the white plague. The marks of the disease showed so plainly upon the girl's features and her appeal was so pathetic that Doctor Friedmann was touched. He carefully examined the girl and although it was evident that she was in the advanced stages of the disease, he readily agreed to treat her among the first patients.

While the clinic was being held, a throng of sufferers, many of whom had come long distances, surged about the hospital, appealing in vain for admission.

SYDNEY SWEEP BY GALE

Tornado Causes Many Deaths and Does Property Damage.

Sydney, N. S. W., March 12.—A sixty-mile gale swept this city, causing several deaths and doing great damage ashore and afloat. Sixty street cars were derailed by the wind, several yachts were wrecked at their moorings and chimneys toppled over throughout the city. One man was electrocuted, three were drowned in the harbor, and the list of fatalities is still incomplete. A number of buildings were wrecked and trees uprooted.

2 CRIPPLED VESSELS SEEN

Liners Cambrian and Balaklava Spoken in Disabled Condition.

Plymouth, England, March 12.—Passengers landing here from the steamer President Grant reported that two crippled steamers were seen in mid-Atlantic. The first was the Leyland liner Cambrian, from Boston to Liverpool, which was spoken to March 6 with her machinery disabled. On March 10 the steamer Balaklava was passed and reported her steering gear out of order.

SHOOT RUSSIAN CONSUL

Chinese Attack Czar's Aid as He Passes Barracks in Tientsin.

Peking, China, March 12.—When the Russian consul was passing the Chinese barracks in Tientsin, northern Manchuria, he was shot by Chinese soldiers. Eight shots were fired at his escort, consisting of four Cossacks, but they escaped injury.

GOMEZ DID NOT VETO BILL

Amnesty Measure Was Returned to Cuban Congress for Changes.

Havana, March 12.—The amnesty
 bill was not vetoed by President Gomez, as reported, but it was returned to the Cuban congress without the chief executive's signature. The message accompanying it recommended
 several changes in the document which, it is thought, will remove the features that Secretary of State Bryan found objectionable to the United States. Among other things, President Gomez suggested that the measure make clearer the provisions extending amnesty to prisoners who had injured
 American interests.

PEOPLES COLUMN

ON MEDICAL INSPECTION
OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Editor Evening Telegraph:

The annual school election is approaching and the question whether or not we shall have medical inspection in our schools is worthy of our most serious consideration. Where-ever it has been tried there seems to be no question as to its value, when done in an efficient manner. The following are a few reports taken from a recent issue of the School Board Journal. They speak for themselves:

In San Diego, Cal., among 2500 pupils over 2000 had some form of minor ailment, 900 had defective teeth, 650 diseased tonsils, 325 diseases of skin. This board proposes to increase its force of inspectors, clearly indicating the value placed upon the method.

Fort Wayne, Ind., found that fully one-half of the pupils were diseased
 or defective. 1024 were examined and 555 instructed to seek proper treatment. Over 400 had defective eyesight, 158 adenoids, 228 diseased
 tonsils, 264 bad teeth.

Columbus, O., has appointed graduate nurses to act as inspectors. They also keep in touch with those who are sick.

These few reports simply show
 how other communities feel toward medical inspection and could be duplicated wherever it has been introduced. There are many reasons why medical inspection should have a prominent place in our schools. But three will be considered, viz:

1. Children with diseased tonsils, adenoids or decayed teeth are more susceptible to all forms of contagious diseases, carrying with it danger to the child himself.

2. They are a distinct element of danger to their schoolmates. It has been demonstrated that certain individuals may harbor disease germs (tonsils, throat or mouth as an example) with little or no symptoms
 but transmit the disease to others.
 This explains the springing up of epidemics without obvious cause.

3. Defects in sight, hearing and a lack of good health seriously handicap a child in his school work. It has been shown that it requires a considerably longer period for such defec-tives to make their grades. They also have a diminished capacity for grasping the fundamentals, learning
 by rote, not by understanding.

While other, and perhaps more important reasons could be advanced were it necessary the ones cited, it seems to me, are quite sufficient to warrant any school board in taking all needful precautions to protect the health of the children in our public schools.

The object mentioned is expressed in one word of four letters, COST. If the life of your child or my own is preserved, if the degree of intelligence of the pupils as a whole, is raised, if the period of school life is lessened, the cost must indeed be great to counterbalance its benefits.
 The present school board has given some thought to this matter, which must be considered an important question. It is a question of true conservatism.

Washington, March 12.—John Wana-

 treasury had been defrauded of during the last fifteen years through irregular practices in the importation of samples of merchandise. At the no intent to defraud the customs had been shown.

OBITUARY.

EDWARD CHAUNCEY LAMB.

On March 10, 1913, at the historic burying ground at Melugin's Grove,
 Brooklyn Township, Lee County,
 Illinois, the body of Edward Chaun-celey Lamb was laid away to its final resting place. The Brooklyn lodge, No. 282 A. F. & A. M., of which deceased was a member for many years, had charge of the funeral rites and services. The impressive ceremony conducted The impressive ceremony conducted for deceased fraternal brothers was in answer to the call of the Omnipotent who had already summoned his soul to the great beyond, and as the body was returned to the bosom of mother earth, the many friends and relatives
 present witnessed the passing fore-ever from their vision the form of one who had endeared himself to their hearts, and leaving the memory of his kind and noble acts and deeds to stand as a monument as an exemplary citizen of character and respect.

Deceased was born in Jefferson County, New York, on July 15, 1814,
 being one of twelve children of S. D.
 and Elizab Lamb. In 1850 deceased with his parents came to Illinois and settled near LaMoille in Bureau County, remaining at this place for a period of ten years, when they moved to Brooklyn township. Later they took up their home at Melugin's Grove, residing in the pioneer village and stage station, what is now known and called the 'Old Burg.'

On June 12, 1864, our subject was united in marriage to Mary Little,
 daughter of Andrew and Charity Little, one of the early pioneers who settled at Melugin's Grove. In the autumn of 1864 deceased with his wife moved from the 'Old Burg' and settled on a farm in Viola township, where he lived for many years and became a successful and prosperous agriculturist. Of this happy union were born: William J., of Stafford, Kas.; George W., who occupies and resides on the old homestead in Viola township; Victoria L. and John;
 the two latter died in infancy. Of deceased brothers and sisters, three have preceded him, namely, Adaline DeWitt, of Calamus, Iowa; Emma Smith and Alvina Saunders, of Parker's Prairie, Minn. Those who survive him are: Mary Stone, Oconomwoc, Wis.; N. E. Aird, Mendota, Ill.; Laura Merriott, Prophetstown, Ill.;
 Elizabeth Mannon, Compton, Ill.;
 Caroline Melugin, Thorp, Wash.; Charles E. Lamb (twin brother of deceased), Rockford, Ia.; William D.
 Lamb, Gordonsville, Minn.; Julia Nimmo, Idaho Springs, Idaho. Deceased also had three step-sisters, as follows: Viola Draper, Cora Hunter
 and Retta Morrison, of Los Angeles, Cal., of whom Cora Hunter preceded him. The following grandchildren also survive him: George Wilber, Gracie May, Blanche Anne, Mabel
 Mary and John Edward, all of Stafford, Kas., and Myrtle Ivy, Gertrude Mary and Cecil Georgia of Compton, Illinois.

In the political field deceased always took an active interest and during his life held many positions of trust and honor. In 1880 he was appointed deputy sheriff of Lee county
 under the sheriffship of Walter Little, acting in this capacity for two years, which was the term of office at that time. During his term of deputy sheriff deceased lived at Dixon but returned to his farm at the close of his term. Deceased was also an active member of the county board for 12 years as supervisor from his township. It was during one of his terms
 as supervisor that the present county court house was built. He was also a member of the school board many years in the district in which he resided. As to his party affiliations, deceased was a republican. As to his political career he left a record that is a credit not only to himself but also to the community which he represented, standing only for that which was right and just.

In private life the memories of his manliness and tender loving spirit will find repose in the hearts and minds with those with whom he came in contact. In every storm of life this brave and tender man was
 of oak and like a rock, but in the sunshine he was the vine and flower. In his ambitions and struggles in life
 he climbed the heights and with his intelligence and optimistic temperament left all superstitions far below,
 while on his countenance beamed
 the radiance of a better and brighter day. He loved the beautiful, and was with color, form and music, touched to tears. Through the efforts of him self and his helpmate, who survives
 him, his home and fireside was replete with comfort, happiness and contentment. These characteristics, together with the kind and jovial disposition he possessed, caused the young and old to seek his acquaintance and friendship to hear stories
 and anecdotes he had in store, to dis-

BOWELS BAD, LIVER
TORPID? CASCARETS

IF CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, HEAD-ACHY, STOMACH SOUR, GET A
 10 CENT BOX OF CASCARETS—
 TAKE ONE TONIGHT.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep:
 cleanse and regulate the stomach;
 remove the sour, undigested and fermented food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cas-carets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

NEW BOULEVARD LIGHTS IN FRANKLIN

BUSINESS PART OF CITY WAS ILLUMINATED BY THEM LAST NIGHT.

Franklin Grove, Mich. 12—Special—The completion of the installation of the new boulevard lights yesterday was signalled last night when the business part of the city was illuminated by their glow.

An abundance of light is thrown from the eight 3-light posts on Elm street, between South and Whitney streets. Each post is surmounted by an upright light of about 125 candle power and two drop lights of about 90 candle power each; the latter burn until midnight and the upright lights burn all night. As soon as the weather permits the lighting system in the other parts of town will be changed, by placing higher candle power lamps extended by arms instead of the present system of suspended lamps.

JOE KERNAN GETS A SEND-OFF

CHICAGO TRIBUNE WRITES UP FORMER DIXON BROWN, SHOWING PICTURE

Sam Weller in the Chicago Tribune has the following to say about Joe Kernan, the former Dixon Brown in a despatch from the Pacific Coast. The article also has a good photograph of Joe:

San Francisco, Cal., March 10—Special—For the special interest of baseball fans on the west side in Chicago, this sketch is devoted to Joe Kernan, a hustling young third baseman, who is being tried out by the White Sox. Joe was brought up on the west side and resides on Adams street, near Forty-first avenue.

The youngster has had only three years' professional experience, but looks like a coming big leaguer. He seems perfectly at home when gathering up grounders at the third corner and so far on the trip has displayed considerable skill in every department of the game. There seems little question but that his fielding is classy enough for the big show, but like many a young fellow trying for a place, 'it all depends on how well he hits the ball.'

Joe began playing professional ball in the spring of 1910 with La Crosse. The following spring he was sold to Oskosh, where he remained until drafted by the White Sox last fall. Before 1910 he played independent ball with a team at Dixon, Ill., and before that was a member of Jack Kearey's Marquettes of Chicago. It was with the Marquettes that Joe got his real experience, for until then he had played only with the 'kids' on the vacant lots.

Kernan is a graduate of St. Patrick's school on the west side, where he played indoor baseball with Eddie Sweeney. After getting through school he took apointment in the freight department of a railway company. He was too good a ball player to stick to the railroad job, and for the last three years has given all his time to the game, spending the winters at home with his parents. He is 22 years old, five feet, seven inches in height, and weighs 150 pounds.

Last season with Oskosh, Kernan batted .280 and showed class in his position, besides doing some splendid base running. He's a bit small for the big league, but no smaller than many a fellow who has been a star on the infield, and Joe has the ambition and determination to become a star.

With Capt. Lord and Rollie Zeider on hand as third basemen, it looks like a tough job for young Kernan to break into the White Sox team this season, but he is not wasting his opportunity to show just what he's worth. He will be satisfied if he gets placed somewhere this year where the game is played faster than it is at Oskosh, and then gets another trial with the big leaguers a year from now.

In the first exhibition games between the Sax first and second teams Kernan played third for the seconds, and was one of the youngsters to make a good impression on the manager. His batting and base running in these games was splendid. If he keeps it up for the entire training trip he may gain a big-league berth this year.

ALL STARS DEFEAT WONDERS

FAST CONTEST AT THE BRUNSWICK ALLEYS MONDAY EVENING.

The All Stars defeated the Wonders in a fast bowling contest at the Brunswick alleys Monday evening. The score:

CHAPTER XVII.

Wilfred Plays the Man.

A sharp contrast to the noise outside was presented by the quiet of the Varney house inside. The sewing women, in view of the attack and the movements of the boys and the old men, had separated sooner than they had intended and had gone their several ways. Old Jonas, frightened to death, remained locked up in the closet where he had been left by Arrelsford's men. Martha was upstairs in Howard's room, making ready to watch over him during the night.

Caroline Mitford had not gone home. She had sent word that she intended to pass the night at the Varney house. Somehow she thought they seemed to need her. She was standing by one of the long front windows in the drawing-room, now a scene of much disorder because of the recent struggle.

Caroline stared out of the window at the flashes of light. She listened, with heaving breast and throbbing heart, to the roar of the cannon and the rattle of musketry. She had heard both many times lately, but now it was different, for Wilfred was there. Mrs. Varney came upon her with her hand pressed against her breast, her face white and staring, tears brimming her eyes, but, as usual, Mrs. Varney was so engrossed with her own tremendous troubles that she had little thought for the girl.

"Caroline," she began anxiously, "tell me what happened. Edith won't speak to me. She has locked herself up in her room. What was it? Where has she been? What—"

"She was at the telegraph office," answered Caroline in a low voice. "What did she do there? What happened there?"

"I am not sure."

"But try to tell me, dear."

"I would if I could, Mrs. Varney, but I was afraid and ran out and waited for her in the hall. The rest of them—"

The girl broke off as the deep tones of the city bells clanged sharply above the diapason of artillery.

"It's the alarm bell," said Mrs. Varney.

"Yes," said Caroline, "they are calling out the last reserves."

"Yes; hark to the cannonading. Isn't it awful?" returned Mrs. Varney.

"They must be making a terrible attack tonight, Lieutenant Maxwell was right; that quiet spell was a signal."

"There goes another battery of artillery," said Caroline, staring through the window. "A man told us that they were sending them all over to Cemetery Hill. That's where the fighting is, Cemetery Hill."

"General Varney's division is to the right of that position, or was the last time I heard from him," said Mrs. Varney anxiously.

"I am afraid they are going to have a bad time of it tonight," said Caroline, drawing the curtains and turning away from the window.

"I'm afraid so," was the rejoinder. "Now, try to think, dear, who was at the telegraph office? Can't you tell me something that occurred that will explain Edith's silence? She looks like death, and—"

"I can't tell you anything except that they arrested Mr. Arrelsford."

"Mr. Arrelsford! You don't mean that?"

"Yes, I do," answered Caroline.

"General Randolph—I went and brought him there, because they wouldn't send my telegram—he was in a fearful temper."

"But Edith? Can't you tell me what she did?"

"I can't, Mrs. Varney, for I don't know. I waited for her in the hall, and when she came out she couldn't speak. Then we hurried home, I tried to get her to tell me, but she wouldn't say a word except that her heart was broken, and that's all I know, Mrs. Varney, truly."

"I believe you, my dear. I know you would tell me if you could."

"I certainly would, for I love—"

There was a loud ring at the front door. It was evidently unlocked, for, without waiting for an answer, it was thrown open roughly, and through the hall and into the drawing-room stalked Mr. Arrelsford. He was wildly excited, evidently in a tremendous hurry, and utterly oblivious to manners or anything else. He had been checked and thwarted so many times that he was in a bad temper for anything.

"Is your daughter in the house?" he began roughly, without any further preliminaries or salutation, without even removing his hat.

"Answer," he said harshly.

She bowed her head in the affirmative, scarcely able to speak in her indignation at his manner and bearing.

"I wish to see her."

"I don't believe she will care to receive you at present," returned her mother quietly.

"What she cares to do at present is of small consequence. I must see her at once. Shall I go up to her room with these men, or will you have her down here?"

The room had filled with soldiers as the two spoke together.

"Neither the one nor the other, sir," said Mrs. Varney, who was not in the least afraid of Mr. Arrelsford or his soldiers, "until I know your business with her."

"My business—a few questions—I've got a few questions to ask her. Listen to that noise out yonder? Do you hear those guns and the troops passing by? Now, you know what 'Attack tonight, Plan 3,' means."

"Is that the attack?" asked Mrs. Varney.

"That's the attack. They are breaking through our lines at Cemetery Hill. That was the place indicated by 'Plan 3.' We are rushing to the front all the reserves we have, to the last man and boy, but they may not get there in time."

"What may I ask, has my daughter to do with it?"

"Do with it? She did it!" asserted Arrelsford bitterly.

"What!" exclaimed Mrs. Varney, in a great outburst of indignation. "How dare you!"

"We had him in a trap, under arrest, the telegraph under guard, when she brought in that commission. We would have shot him in a moment, but they took me prisoner and let him go."

"Impossible!" whispered Mrs. Varney. "You don't mean—"

"Yes, she did. She put the game in his hands. He got control of the wires and the dispatch went through. As soon as I could get to headquarters I explained, and they saw the trick. They rushed the guard back, but the scoundrel had got away. Foray was gone, too, and Allison knew nothing about it, but we're after him, and if she knows where he is," he turned as if to leave the room and ascend the stairs, "I will get it out of her."

"You don't suppose that my daughter would—?" began Mrs. Varney.

"I suppose everything."

"I will not believe it," persisted the mother.

"We can't wait for what you believe," said Arrelsford roughly, this time taking a step toward the door.

Mrs. Varney caught him by the arm. "Let me speak to her," she pleaded.

"No, I will see her myself."

But Miss Mitford, who had been the indirect cause of so much trouble, once more interposed. She had listened to him with scarcely less surprise than that developing in Mrs. Varney's breast. She took a malicious joy in thwarting the secret service agent. She barred the way, her slight figure in the door, with arms extended.

"Where is your order for this?" she asked.

Arrelsford stared at her in surprise. "Get out of my way," he said curtly. "I have a word or two to say to you after I have been upstairs."

"Show me your order," persisted the girl, who made not the slightest attempt to give way.

"It's department business and I don't require an order."

"You are mistaken about that," said Caroline with astonishing resourcefulness. "This is a private house, it isn't the telegraph office or the secret service department. If you want to go upstairs or see anybody against their will, you will have to bring an order. I don't know much, but I know enough for that."

Arrelsford turned to Mrs. Varney. "Am I to understand, madam," he began, "that you refuse—"

But before Mrs. Varney could answer, the soldiers Arrelsford had brought with him gave way before the advent of a sergeant and another party of men. The sergeant advanced directly to Mrs. Varney, touched his cap to her, and began:

"Are you the lady that lives here, ma'am?"

"Yes, I am Mrs. Varney."

"I have an order from General Randolph's office to search this house for—"

"Just in time," said Arrelsford, stepping toward the sergeant. "I will go through the house with you."

"Can't go through on this order," said the sergeant shortly.

"You were sent here to—?" began Mrs. Varney.

"Yes; sorry to trouble you, ma'am, but we'll have to be quick about it. If we don't find him here we've got to follow him down Franklin street; he's over this way somewhere."

"Who are you? What do you want?"

"Man named Thorne, captain of artillery," answered the sergeant; "that's what he went by, at least. Here, two of you stay! That room in there and the back of the house. Two of you outside, pointing to the windows. 'Cut off those windows. The rest upstairs.'"

The men rapidly dispersed, obeying the commands of the sergeant, and began a thorough search of the house. Caroline Mitford preceded them up the stairs to Edith's room. Arrelsford, after a moment's hesitation, stepped toward the door and went out, followed by his men. Without a word of acknowledgment or even a bow to Mrs. Varney, he and his men presently left the house. As he did so, two of the sergeant's men re-entered the room, shoving old Jonas roughly before them. The man's livery was torn and dirty, his head was bound up, and he showed signs of the rough handling he had undergone.

"Get Out of My Way," He Said Curtly.

"Where did you get that?" asked the sergeant contemptuously.

"He was locked in a closet, sir."

"What were you doing in there?" He turned to the old negro. "If you don't answer me, we will shoot the life out of you." He raised his revolver threateningly. "Belongs to you, I reckon," he said to Mrs. Varney.

"Yes, my butter; they locked him up. Mr. Arrelsford wants him for carrying a message."

"That's all right," said the sergeant. "If he wants him, he can have him."

We're looking for some one else. Put him back in his closet. Here, this room! Be quick now! Cover that door. Sorry to disturb you, ma'am."

"Do what you please," said Mrs. Varney. "I have nothing on earth to conceal."

As the men hurriedly withdrew to continue their search, the voice of a newcomer was heard on the porch. The words came to them clearly:

"Here, lend a hand, somebody, will you?"

The next moment General Varney's orderly entered the room, caught sight of the sergeant, saluted, and then turned to Mrs. Varney.

"I've brought back your boy, ma'am," he said.

"Oh!" exclaimed Mrs. Varney faintly; "what do you mean?"

"We never got out to General Varney's. We ran into a Yankee raiding party, cavalry, down here about three miles. Our home-guard was galloping by on the run to head them off, and before I knew what he was about, the boy was in with 'em, riding like mad. There was a bit of a skirmish, and he got a clip across the neck. Nothing at all, ma'am. He rode back all the way, and—"

"Oh, my boy! He's hurt—he's hurt—"

"Nothing serious, ma'am; don't upset yourself," returned the orderly reassuringly.

"Where did you—?"

But that moment the object of their solicitude himself appeared on the scene. The boy was very pale, and his neck was bandaged. Two of the sergeant's men supported him.

"Oh, Wilfred!" cried his mother; "my boy!"

"It's nothing, mother," said Wilfred, motioning her away. "You don't understand." The boy tried to free himself from the men who still held him by the arm. "What do you want to hold me like that for?" he expostulated, as he drew himself away and took a few steps. "You see I can walk," he protested.

His words were brave, but his performance was weak. His mother came close to him and extended her arms toward him. But Wilfred was a soldier now, and he did not want any scenes. Therefore, with a great effort, he took her hand in as casual a manner as possible, quite like a stranger paying an afternoon call.

"How do you do, mother?" he said. "You didn't expect me back so soon, did you? I will tell you how it was. Don't you go away, orderly. I will rest a minute, and then I will go back with you." Another outburst of the cannon and the frantic pealing of the alarm bells caught his attention. "See, they are ringing the bells calling out the reserves." He started toward the door. "I will go right now."

"No, no, Wilfred," said his mother, taking his arm; "not now, my son."

"Not now?" said Wilfred, whose weakness was growing apparent. "Do you hear those—those—those bells and—then tell me not to go—why—"

He swayed and tottered.

"Stand by there!" cried the sergeant.

The two men immediately caught hold of him as he fainting. They carried him to the lounge.

"Find some water, will you?" continued the sergeant. "Put his head down, ma'am, and he'll be all right in a minute. He's only fainted."

One of the privates who had hurried off in search of water soon came back with a basin full, with which Mrs. Varney laved the boy's head.

"He'll be all right in a minute," said the sergeant. "Come, men."

He turned as he spoke, and, followed by the men, left the room, leaving Mrs. Varney with Wilfred and the orderly. It was the latter who broke the silence.

"If there isn't anything else, ma'am, I believe I'd better report back to the general."

"Yes," said Mrs. Varney, "don't wait. The wound is dressed, isn't it?"

"Yes; I took him to the Windsor hospital. They said he would be on his feet in a day or two, but he wants to be kept pretty quiet."

"Tell the general how it happened."

"Very well, ma'am," said the orderly, touching his cap and going out.

ly, touching his cap and going out.

The next person to enter the room was Caroline Mitford. The noise of the men searching the house was very plain. Having informed Edith of the meaning of the tumult, she had come downstairs to inquire if they had found Thorne. She came slowly with the door—rather listlessly, in fact. The exciting events of the night in which she had taken part had somewhat sapped her natural vivacity, but she was shocked into instant action when she saw Wilfred stretched upon the sofa.

"Oh!" she breathed in a low, tense whisper; "what is it? Is he—?"

"Caroline dear," said Mrs. Varney, "it is nothing serious. He isn't badly hurt. He was cut in the neck and fainted. There, there—" the woman rose from Wilfred's side and caught the girl—"don't you faint, too, dear."

"I am not going to faint," said Caroline desperately. She took Mrs. Varney's handkerchief from the latter's hand, and dipped it in the water. "I can take care of him," she continued, kneeling down by her boyish lover.

"I don't need anybody down here at all. The men are going all over the house and—"

"But, Caroline—" began Mrs. Varney.

"Mrs. Varney," returned the girl, strangely quiet, "there's a heap of soldiers upstairs, looking in all the rooms. I reckon you'd better go and attend to them. They will be in Edith's room, or Howard's, in a minute."

"Yes, yes," said Mrs. Varney, "and Howard so ill. I must go for a few minutes, anyway. You know what to do?"

"Oh, yes," answered the girl confidently.

"Bathe his forehead. He isn't badly hurt, dear. I won't be long, and he will soon come to, I am sure," said Mrs. Varney, turning away.

Presently Wilfred opened his eyes. He stared about him unmeaningly and uncomprehendingly for the moment.

"Wilfred, dear Wilfred," began the girl in soft, low, caressing tones, "you are not hurt much, are you? Oh, not much. There, you will feel better in just a moment, dear Wilfred."

"Is there—are you—?" questioned Wilfred, striving to concentrate his mind on the problem of his whereabouts and her presence.

"Oh, Wilfred, don't you know me?"

"What are you talking about?" said Wilfred more strongly. "Of course I know you. Where am I?" And as full consciousness came back to him, "What am I doing, anyway? Taking a bath?"

"No, no, Wilfred; you see I am bathing your head. You fainted a little, and—"

"Fainted!" exclaimed Wilfred in deep disgust. "I fainted?" He made a feeble attempt to rise, but sank back weakly. "Yes, of course, I was in a fight with the Yankees and got wounded somewhere."

He stopped, puzzled, staring strangely, almost afraid, at Caroline.

"What is it?" asked the girl.

"See here," he began seriously; "I will tell you one thing right now. I am not going to load you up with a cripple, not much."

His resignation was wonderful.

"Cripple!" exclaimed Caroline, bewildered.

"I reckon I've got an arm knocked off, haven't I?"

"No, you haven't, Wilfred; they are both on all right."

"Perhaps it was a hand that they shot away?"

"Not a single one," said Caroline.

"Are my—my ears on all right?"

"Yes," answered the girl. "You needn't bother about them for a moment."

Wilfred staked all on the last question.

"How many legs have I got left?"

"All of them," answered Caroline; "every one!"

"Then, if there's enough of me left to—amount to anything—you'll take charge of it, just the same? How about that?"

"That's all right," said the girl, burying her face on his shoulder.

Wilfred got hold of her hand and kissed it passionately. He seemed quite strong enough for that.

"I tried to send you a telegram but they wouldn't let me," whispered Caroline suddenly, raising her head and looking at him.

"You did?"

"Yes."

"What did you say in it?"

But here the girl's courage failed her.

"Tell me what you said," persisted Wilfred.

"It was something very nice," faltered poor Caroline.

"It was, eh?"

"Yes."

"Was it as nice as this?" asked Wilfred, suddenly lifting his head and kissing her.

"I don't know about that," stammered Caroline, blushing a beautiful crimson, "but it was very nice. I wouldn't have tried to telegraph it if it was something bad, would I?"

"Well, if it was so good," said Wilfred, "why on earth didn't you send it?"

"Goodness gracious!" exclaimed Caroline; "how could I when they wouldn't let me?"

"Wouldn't let you?"

"I should think not. They had a dreadful time at the telegraph office."

"At the telegraph office; were you there?" Wilfred made a violent effort to recollect. "I have it," he said in stronger tones; "they told me at the hospital. I must get up."

"No, no, you mustn't," said Caroline, interposing.

"Don't," said Wilfred; "I have to attend to it." He spoke with a stern, strange decision, entirely foreign to his previous idle love-making. "I know all about Thorne. He gets hold of our department telegraph and sends out a false order, weakens our defenses at Cemetery Hill." The boy got to his feet by this time, steadying himself by Caroline's shoulder. "They are down on us in a moment." A look of pain, not physical, shot across his face, but he mastered it. "And she gave it to him, the commission; my sister Edith!" he continued bitterly.

"Oh!" said Caroline; "you know—"

"I know this. If my father were here, he'd see her. As he isn't here, I will attend to it. Send her to me."

He spoke weakly, but in a clear voice and a most imperative manner. He took his hand off Caroline's shoulder. If he were to deal with this, so grave and critical a situation, he must do it without feminine support. By a great effort he held himself resolutely erect, repeating his command.

"Send her to me."

"No," said Caroline faintly, just as Mrs. Varney re-entered the room.

"What is it?" asked the mother.

"He wants to see Edith," returned the girl.

"Not now, Wilfred," persisted Mrs. Varney; "you are weak and ill, and Edith—"

"Tell her to come here. I must see her at once," repeated Wilfred.

Mrs. Varney instantly divined the reason. Caroline had told him about the telegraph office, but she could see no advantage to be gained by the interview he sought.

"I won't do you any good, Wilfred," she said. "She won't speak a word to anybody about it."

"I don't want her to speak to me," returned the boy grimly; "I am going to speak to her."

"But some other time, Wilfred," urged his mother.

"No, no; immediately," but as no one made the slightest effort toward complying with his demand, "Very well," he continued, moving slowly toward the door, and by a determined effort keeping his feet. "If you won't send her to me, I will—"

"There, there," said Mrs. Varney, interposing swiftly; "if you must, you must. Since you insist, I will call her."

"I do insist."

"Stay with him, dear," said Mrs. Varney to Caroline, "and I will go and call her."

"No," said Wilfred, "I want to see her alone."

Wondering much at this move of her boy-lover, but somehow feeling that Wilfred represented his father and the law, Caroline, after one long look at his pale but composed face, turned and followed Mrs. Varney out of the room.

RASH SPREAD TO ARMS AND BACK

Eruptions on Face, Itched and Burned, Festered, Skin Dry and Scaly. Sleep Out of Question. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

759 Roach Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.—"At first I noticed small eruptions on my face. The trouble began as a rash. It looked like red pimples. In a few days they spread to my arms and back. They itched and burned so badly that I scratched them and of course the result was blood and matter. The eruptions festered, broke, opened and dried up leaving the skin dry and scaly. I spent many sleepless nights, my back, arms and face burning and itching; sleep was purely and simply out of the question. The trouble also caused disfigurement. My clothing irritated the breaking out.

"By this time I had used several well known remedies without success. The trouble continued. Then I began to use the sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Within seven or eight days I noticed gratifying results. After receiving the excellent returns I purchased a full-sized cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and in about eighteen or twenty days my cure was complete. I truthfully recommend Cuticura Soap and Ointment to any sufferer of skin diseases." (Signed) Miss Katherine McCalister, Apr. 12, 1912.

GOOD ADVICE

A DIXON CITIZEN GIVES INFOR-MATION OF PRICELESS
VALUE.

When you suffer from backache,
Headache, dizziness, nervousness,
Feel weak, languid, depressed,
Have annoying urinary disorders;
Do you know what to do?

Some Dixon people do
Read the statement that follows.
It's from a Dixon citizen.
Testimony that can be investigated.

Mrs. J. Helfrich, R. R. No. 4, Dixon, Ill., says: "While I never take Doan's Kidney Pills myself I can strongly recommend them and I am glad to confirm the public statement
a member of my family gave in their praise some years ago. For a long time this person suffered from irregular action of the kidneys. He also had backaches and found relief only when he used Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at Leake Bros. Co.'s store.
This remedy stopped the pain and restored the kidneys to a normal condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

INCOME TAX RATE OF DEEP INTEREST

Country Also Anxious Regarding Method of Administering Law.

THOUSANDS SEEK INFORMATION

Protests Are General Against Inquisitorial Laws and Regulations—Ways and Means Body of House Deluged With Inquiries.

Washington, March 12.—Intense interest is being evidenced by the country in the rate of the income tax to be levied, the amount of the income exemption and the methods of administration of the law. Protests are general against inquisitorial laws and regulations.

Thousands of letters are being received daily on this subject by the house ways and means committee and constituents of various congressmen
are writing and telegraphing for information.

To Limit Tax to One Per Cent.
There is a disposition on the part of the ways and means committee to limit the tax to one per cent. on the excess of incomes over $5,000 or $4,000
a year whether derived from inherited invested wealth, corporate investments
or private working capital. Such a law, it is held, would remove many difficulties in the way of administration and collection, because many of the incomes coming within the taxable limit
under the exemption could be reached at the source of the income from which general returns could be forced.

With the income exemption placed lower than $4,000 and the application of a graduated tax, as would be required in a spirit of justice, the administrative laws and regulations for collections would embody personal visitations which would smack of the in-quisitorial. Against this proposition most of the protests are leveled against the proposed tax.

Working Out the Details.
Representative Hull, Tennessee, a member of the ways and means committee, is working on details of the income tax law. He was assigned to this task because he framed the law
under which a tax of two per cent. is now collected on the net incomes exceeding $5,000 of corporations. He framed also the excise income tax bill. Impressed by the popular opposition to inquisitorial features in administering the proposed law, Hull is inclined to draft his bill so that it may carry the exemption of $4,000 or $5, 000 on yearly incomes with mandatory directions for regular reports from corporations, co-partnerships and agents representing estates and investors. This he defines as collecting the tax at its source. Supplementing this method must be some personal visitation rights in the administrators of the law, but an effort will be made to restrict this power to the greatest possible degree.

Will Give Tariff Bills Lead.
It is the present purpose of the ways and means committee to hold back the income tax legislation until the tariff bills have been disposed of that some idea may be had of the amount of additional revenue that must be raised through taxation to sustain the government. The income tax will be used for this purpose.

The repeal of the corporation tax
will result in a revenue loss of $27, 000,000. Free raw sugar is proposed under the tariff revision and this means an additional loss in revenues of $55,000,000. The losses from these two sources aggregate $82,000,000. It is not expected that a one per cent.
income tax with the $5,000 exemption will yield more than $100,000,000 and all but $18,000,000 is eaten up by the loss from the repeal of the corporation tax and the repeal of the duties on raw sugar.

POWERS WILL MEDIATE

Balkans Accept Proposals for European Mediation.

Austria Makes Objections to Serbian Troops Assisting at the Siege of Scutari.

Sofia, March 12.—The official newspaper, the Mir says that the Balkan states have accepted the proposal for European mediation. The allies stipulate, however, that Turkey must pay an indemnity. It is further stated that hostilities will continue while the negotiations are being carried on. The amount of the indemnity demanded
has not been disclosed.

Belgrade, Servia, March 12.—The Austrian government took a step regarded as equivalent to forbidding Serbia to send troops to assist the Montenegrins in capturing the Turkish fortress of Scutari.

The Austrian minister to Servia, Baron von Ugon von Abrantfalva, informed Premier Pasich that his government objected to Serbian troops assisting in the siege of Scutari, which was to become the capital of Albania.
He requested the immediate recall of any Serbian troops which had been dispatched there.

The Servian premier in reply pointed out that under treaty arrangements Servia was compelled to assist her allies without regard to the future of Scutari.

U. S. AFTER BIG FIRM

Investigating $10,000,000 Independent Harvester Co.

Post Office Department Looks Into Stock Sales Made by the Large Concern.

Chicago, March 12.—The Independent Harvester company, Plano, Ill., a $10,000,000 corporation, is being investigated by the post office department. The company's stock is owned largely by farmers throughout the United States. Complaints made by stockholders are alleged to have caused the government to put post office inspectors to work.

Stock of the company amounting to from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 has been sold in various quantities to farmers throughout the country, it is said. A statement has been made by complainants that the plant and actual assets of the harvester company are not worth $1,000,000, and the inquiry was begun to ascertain whether or not the sale of stock by use of the mails is a violation of the federal law prohibiting the use of the mails to defraud.

Officers of the company have expressed their willingness to be investigated. William C. Thompson, president, has been before postal inspectors several times recently with books of the company, which are now being audited by a special bank accountant employed by the government from Washington.

PULITZER AFTER GAYNOR

Publisher Brings Action Against Mayor for Alleged Libel of Father.

New York, March 12.—Ralph Pulitzer lodged an information before Magistrate Kernochan in Essex, Market court, charging Mayor William J. Gaynor with criminal libel in defaming the memory of his father, the late Joseph Pulitzer. The complaint was accompanied by three supporting affidavits. On February 4 Mayor Gaynor spoke before the South Brooklyn board of trade. His speech was reported by the executive stenographers in the city's employ, and under the direction of the mayor given by them to the various newspapers for publication. In that speech, so reported the mayor, referring to Joseph Pulitzer, said "he had amassed a fortune of $5,000,000 by blackmail and indecency."

PORTO RICANS FAVORED

Cabinet Decides to Grant Islanders Features of Home Rule.

Washington, March 12.—The cabinet discussed the policy of this administration with respect to Porto Rico and the Philippines. Secretary of War Garrison announced later that it had been decided to apply the principles of home rule to Porto Rico. "This policy," said Mr. Garrison, "does not include the commissioners of Porto Rico who are appointed here, but the purely local officers. Nor does it apply only to natives. American residents of Porto Rico who are established in business would come under the rule."
